Problem Statement: Students around campus are having trouble finding an open parking lot to park their car while at school. It is either the parking lot is too full, or the parking lot is too far away from their dorm/class.

Who does it affect: This really affects all students at the university that drive their cars on a daily basis. Freshman who live in dorms find it hard to find parking close to their dorm/class and upperclassmen also find it hard to find parking close to their classes from their off-campus apartments.

What is the problem: Students having trouble finding parking; causing them to be late for or miss class.

Where does the problem present itself: The problem is all over campus, from the Swearingner Center to the Close-Hipp building.

Why does it matter: It matters because students want to be able to make it to class on time and do not want to risk parking too far away or parking in a risky area where their car is not safe.
